Las islas canarias. Descripción de tenerife (Escala en Tenerife) (Spanish Edition) Louis Y Pitard, Charles Proust

Uno de los últimos eslabones en esa larga cadena de viajes científicos a las Islas Canarias es el que encarnan Louis Proust y Charles Joseph Pitard, dos inquietos intelectuales franceses que, auspiciados por su gobierno, visitaron Canarias entre 1905 y 1906. Las principales impresiones y observaciones de sus viajes por toda la geografía insular se plasmaron en dos volúmenes que vieron la luz en 1908: Les Îles Canaries. Description de l'Archipel y Les Îles Canaries. Flore de l'Archipel.

El presente libro, al tiempo que proporciona una serie de noticias sobre la estancia en el Archipiélago de estos autores y sobre sus respectivas biografías, pone por primera vez a disposición del público de las islas una parte de su «obra canaria» a través de la traducción de una selección de textos. Este típico relato de viajes, en el que la descripción histórica y las consideraciones científicas se combinan con detalles e impresiones acerca de la variopinta realidad insular, se completa con una serie de informaciones prácticas que, en cierto modo, anuncian el estilo de las futuras guías turísticas. Todo ello lo convierte en un valioso retrato de la isla de Tenerife a principios del siglo XX.
